

Chapter & Verse

Flyers were distributed for the upcoming Virginia Woodturning Symposium as the Central Virginia Woodturners gathered for the July meeting.

The symposium is scheduled for November 6 and 7 at the Artisans Center of Virginia in Waynesboro. Our own Fred Williamson of Crozet will be one of the demonstrators.

See the flyer for additional information or go to the symposium website at: www.virginiawoodturners.org.

The CVW now has a membership exceeding forty.

The demonstrator for the August meeting is Bart Castelberry of the Blue Ridge Woodturners. Bart will show us how to make turkey calls.

Other highlights of the July meeting were:

****Discussion of a new chapter wide project for all members to turn something from a similar -sized piece of wood.

****Plans to have an all-day woodturning event in September. Details will be announced.

****Invitation for all members to donate items to the annual WVPT auction, which occurs in October. The Artisans Center will be a collection point.

****Plans for Bert Smith, club president, to demonstrate turned picture frames later in the fall.

The idea for the chapter wide project comes from Ray Tilghman, who saw it done by a Florida club. Plans call for each member to receive a standard-sized piece of cherry wood. Members will turn whatever they wish from the wood. The turnings will be judged in various categories in a "blind" judging. Pieces will also be critiqued. Starke Smith volunteered to provide the wood.

In other items of interest, Fred and Mary Williamson received the chapter's thanks for hosting a Saturday woodturning event at their residence, including lunch. It was announced that Young's Hardware in Staunton is willing to stock woodturning-related items. The owner is looking for ideas about what type of merchandise he should stock.

The treasurer reported a balance of $518.36.

The silent auction had another good response. Members are encouraged to donate wood. Also available are chapter shirts and hats, nametags and turning supplies.

Ray was the featured demonstrator. Twenty-seven members attended.

Presidents Corner

Hello Members! The month of July is gone and August is here. I hope everyone tried to do a little off center turning after Ray's demonstration. I did, but it didn't turn out very well... We have Bart Castleberry this month demonstrating game calls; should be fun.

This month we will be handing out wood for anyone interested in turning something and bringing it back for September's meeting.

More details at our meeting Tuesday night; see you then!

Bert

Editor's Notes

Show & Tell

Dan Castleberry Will be the featured demonstrator this month.

All pictures are from the members gallery at the AAW website.

Wondering what the President's Challenge is all about? This is an idea that came from other chapters, and is a challenge to the member to turn to a specific criteria each month. Some examples might be Round and Square, Black and White or Anything but Wood. Show and tell at the next meeting would be the members interpretation of that criteria. Could be fun.
